The RHODODENDRON

Nineteen Hundred Thirty-one

Line of Rhododendron

*Published by the Senior Class of Appalachian State Teachers College
Boone, North Carolina*

DR. B. B. DOUGHERTY

Dedication

With loving appreciation we dedicate this

1931 RHODODENDRON

to

DR. B. B. DOUGHERTY

Founder and President of the Appalachian State Teachers College

who with his departed brother dreamed and built highways, pioneered in the economic development of North Carolina, and made possible without prohibitive cost a college education to every ambitious boy and girl.

Foreword

To you, the reader of this, the ninth edition of the RHODODENDRON, we hand the 1931 copy. We have striven to make this edition a faithful record of one college year. We have tried to make this a useful and economical, as well as attractive, book.

If life be the enjoyment of recalling the pleasant experiences of the past, or the happy anticipation of the future, we hope that this effort of ours may bear fruit to former and future students. Sacred, we hope, will be the memories retouched by this book. May it be read by others with "justice seasoned with mercy."

Acknowledgment

Students of the college who are not members of the staff have done much to make this book a success. Friends, who had no other obligation than that of friendship, have used their talents to help us through the toiling hours. To each we mention a gratitude which will forever have to go untold. Especially are we indebted to Miss Katherine Harwell and Mr. A. Antonakas who drew the division pages for this issue.

Senior Class Poem

The morning dawned, the noon passed by, and eve
Displays its closing hours to show us true
The worth of passing days, so full of all
Their valued moments filled with untold force
To fit us for the tasks for unseen way,
'Tis thus have passed our College years, and now,
Upon the threshold of another day,
We backward cast a glance to note so well
The fair, short, happy, useful hours now closed,
And lift our hearts in thankful strain to those Who've led us on our way, when courage oft Seemed weak to stand the strong and vital test!
And too, to Alma Mater great we lift
Our truest song of love and gratitude,
That still will swell within our hearts in all
The coming and the swiftly moving years!
And now we turn to look upon the days
Just out before, to note with care the toils
Awaiting there the touch of skillful hand,
Hope rising in our souls to meet the tests
So hard and sorest problems of life's way!

ATHLETICS

Football History

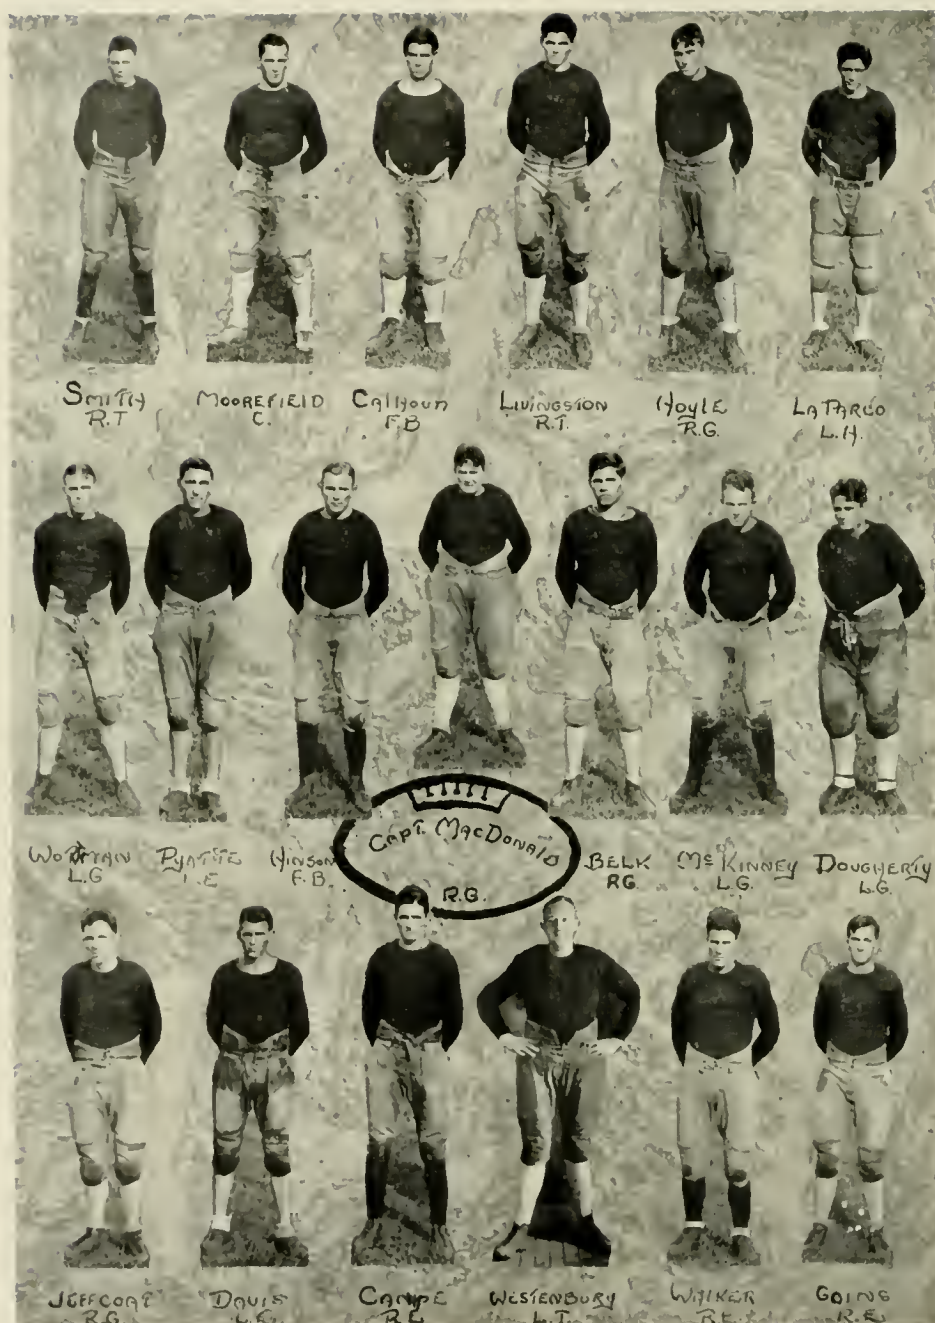

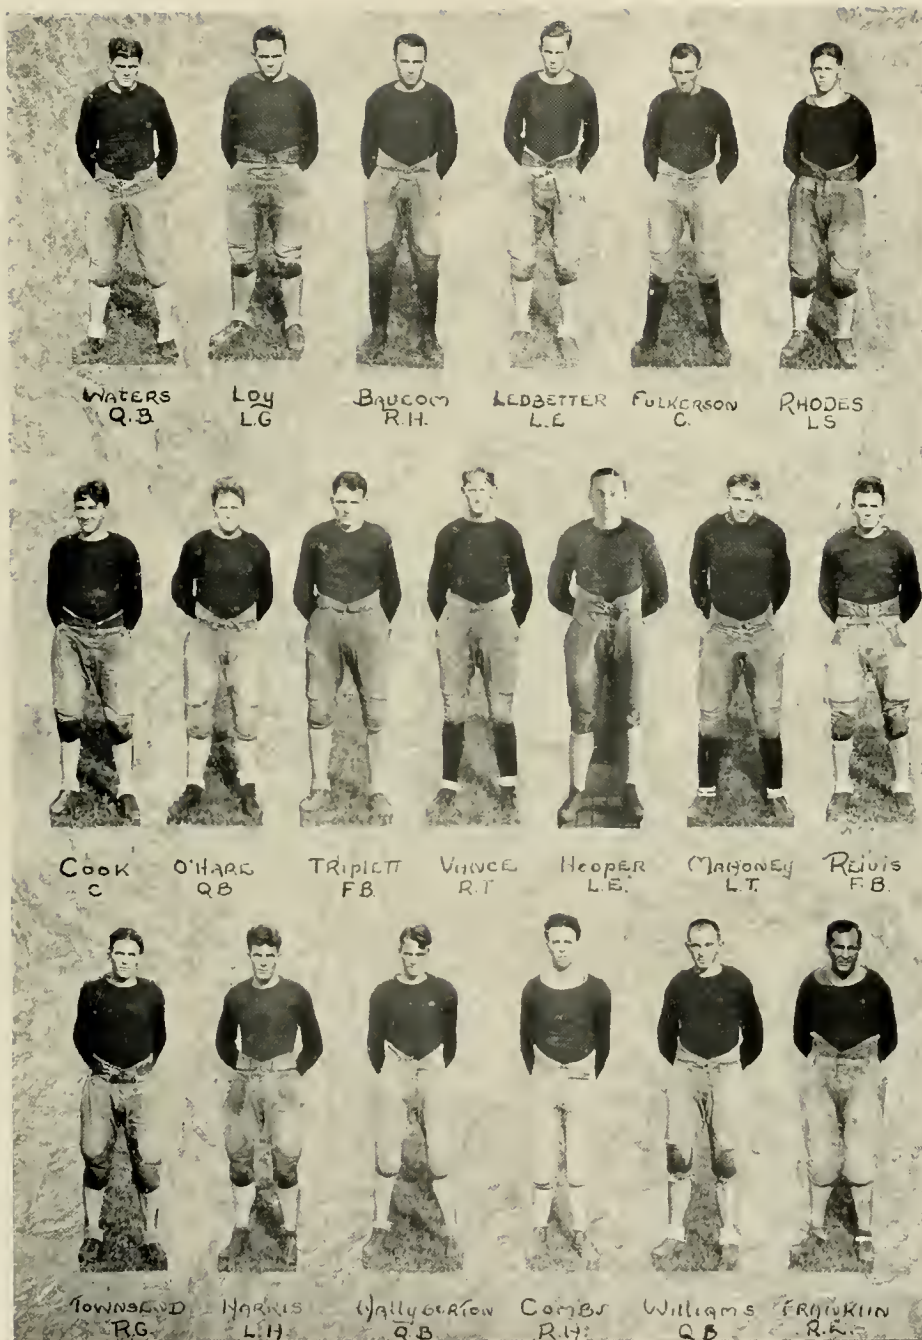

The Mountaineers, true to the traditions of past teams, established another great record in football in winning eight games, losing two and tying one. The schedule embraced one of the hardest in the history of the College and one that was replete with interstate games. The Mountaineers won six out of seven interstate games with representative teams, the best record of any team in the State. The team was strong on offense, flashing a brilliant running and passing attack and had a rugged defense, as was indicated by the points amassed during the campaign which totaled 203 as against 69 scored by opponents.

YES! . . .
RED BAND wins "Save" Tests, too—

We're proud of the way RED BAND has won test, after test, throughout the South. And we're just as proud of RED BAND'S saving ways as of its winning ways.

RED BAND costs a few pennies more than ordinary flours. Yet, in a thrift year—1930—when extravagances just couldn't be tolerated, more RED BAND was used than during any previous year; and 1931 promises to be still larger.

Remarkable? Not at all. RED BAND saves as it serves. Because it's so perfectly balanced in glutens and starches, only about half as much shortening is necessary. There's never any waste, because RED BAND always performs perfectly. There's greater food value in it, too!
